This old Protestant Episcopal chapel built in 1859, the Church of the Nativity in Rosedale has seen many a visitor. Constructed of cypress lumber, it is an old English style structure unique to the area, and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Built by slave artisans who hauled cypress from the swamps and made brick from clay soil found in the area, Live Oaks was built in 1826. It features six columns supporting wonderful galleries on both the first and second floors. It is home to the fifth largest live oak tree in the country.

A must see for live oak lovers, the home is set back from the road, with a driveway centered between two rows of tremendous live oaks. The home also faces Bayou Grosse Tete along LA Hwy. 77. An old manor house, Trinity Plantation was built in 1839 by Dr. George Campbell.

Directly across the Grosse Tete Bridge at Maringouin sits Tanglewild. Built before 1860, it is a one and a half story raised cottage with a pillared front gallery, dormer windows and a modified Greek key design at the front doorway.

Sunnyside is a lovely two-story mansion located on the east bank of Bayou Grosse Tete between Rosedale and Grosse Tete. The mansion, built in 1895, sits in a grove of live oak trees.

Located on Bayou Grosse Tete about three miles from Maringouin, Mound House was built in 1840 by Austin Woolfolk, a large landowner. It is a one and a half story frame house, which sits among moss-draped oak trees.
